ADVENTURES IN Speech PATHOLOGY

Hi I'm Rebecca - an SLP who has worked in so many different speech pathology settings that I now create resources that are FUNCTIONAL, FLEXIBLE and can be used YEAR ROUND. I want you to get maximal use out of my resources and have this hands-on, interactive, work them hard approach to keep kids engaged and motivated in therapy!

100 TRIALS FOR SPEECH

I love using 100 Trials for Speech to try to get a whole lot of repetitions and practices of speech targets in one session. If you're new to the idea of 100 trials, then I will share some tips on how I use them in my sessions.

PREPARATION: These look great printed on color paper! For durability purposes, I like to laminate them or place inside sheet protectors.

STORAGE: These can be placed in a folder with plastic sleeves so that you can choose the page. Many of them are themed, but you don't have to stick to the themes. Kids enjoy them either way! I have also laminated them and clipped them on a ring binder.

USE WITH: dabbers, counters, mini erasers, whiteboard markers, magnetic counters + wand or color the pictures in to mark them off. I prefer using dice to encourage high repetitions.

TO PLAY: Each line is broken down into a set of 10. Sometimes I let the child complete the whole page – or – we split it in half and see how can reach the end of their 5 lines (50 repetitions) first. You can always have the child say their target words for YOUR pictures too!
